HELLO AND WELCOME TO THE EPIC WRITINGS OF NED AND PETER!

Yeah, welcome! But what exactly are we writing, Ned?

Plotting? Memories? Schemes? Writing down great pickup lines for all the girls we're gonna meet in Europe?? Peter, the possibilities are endless, my child.

Why am I the child??

Because you're the one learning and going on missions and I'm the guy in the chair that tells you where to go.

... I guess that makes sense. Even though I don't know what you mean by missions, at all. No, sir. Also, it kind of sounds like someone's starting to enjoy his unlimited power a bit too much.

Touché, bud, touché.

Back to the journal. This is ... our guide. Our guide to Europe. This is our totally awesome, totally normal European adventure journal.

It's weird when you say "totally normal" like that, Pete.

I'm just telling anyone who might read this over my shoulder (Hey, MJ!) that it is 100 percent average, normal, teenage-dude fun.

That doesn't sound suspicious at all, Peter.

~~TOLD YOU!~~

Okay, sure, I can get on board with that.

That's why we're friends, Ned.

I'm your guy, Pete!

You guys are dorks.

Whatever, MJ, don't pretend like you don't love us.

WE'RE GREAT.

Wait, Peter, can we talk about you-know-who-with-the-you-know-webs? Web-head*? You know.

*How we refer to You-Know-Who

WHY WOULD WE DO THAT, NED?
I BARELY KNOW THE GUY.

But I read in the newspaper ~~heard on a podcast~~
read online that he's going to Europe this summer, too.

OMG,
you're SO bad at this.

THINGS TO DO BEFORE WE LEAVE THE COUNTRY

(Or, Peter and Ned are very unprepared and bad at packing)

Peter's Travel Check List

- ☐ Mini versions of everything: toothpaste, deodorant, soap.

So smol. So cute.

- ☐ Headphone splitter

Aw, do you wanna watch a movie with me, Parker?

That is not the plan

Right, the M-J plan.

That is not subtle.

- ☐ Clothes

- ☒ ~~Special Suit~~

- ☐ ~~"Contact" solution~~

I thought you got Lasik?

May must've added that...

Peter, aren't you forgetting something?

☐ PASSPORT

Ned's Travel Check List

- ☐ All the chargers, all the extra batteries

- ☐ My hat

Hey, Ned, how many milliners does it take to make a hat?

What's a milliner?

It's a hatmaker—just guess, you're ruining the joke.

This seems like a bad joke I'd tell. But okay, how many milliners does it take to make a hat?

A million! Get it? Milliner? Million?

Oh, buddy. That was really bad.

And you know I love a good bad joke!

I did it all for you, friend. We should call all these bad jokes NBJs for Ned's Bad Jokes, since you usually inspire them.

- ☐ Business cards

What? Why?

Easiest way to get my contact info to the girls we're gonna meet, Pete!

- ☐ Clothes

- ☐ Nice clothes

Are you bringing a tie, Pete?

Yes ☹️

PETER AND NED: INTERNATIONAL MEN OF AMAZINGNESS

Now that we have our passports, I looked up some of the sickest passport stamps online, and, Peter, we have to find these. We have to go.

Deal! What's on the list?

There is a place called the Polar Bear Capital of the World, and if we go, the passport stamp has a polar bear in it. I need this.

Well, then I want to go to

LLANFAIRPWLLGWYNGYLL-GOGERYCHWYRNDROBWLL-LLANTYSILIOGOGOGOGCH

Wales, UK.

*The town with the second longest name in the world?
I'm familiar. And I'm there.*

Do you think we could make it to Antarctica before these things expire? I'm pretty sure that would be a really awesome stamp to get.

*Why not? What's stopping us?
I mean, other than not being grown-ups.*

Not being grown-ups right now.

Did you guys know one of the most remote places in the world is this tiny island in the South Atlantic that takes five days to get to by boat from the closest port, because they don't have an airport? I want to go. Only like 300 people live there. It sounds amazing.

That sounds . . . safe.

I'd go with you, MJ.

Yeah, you WOULD, Pete.
